

cataloguing & research

Let our experts research your entire collection or individual objects. This research may lead to identification, publication, significance assessments or just knowing how to best care for your collection. Our strong project management experience will ensure this is done efficiently and effectively.

Our specialists also have extensive experience in the cataloguing of a wide variety of collection types. A strong knowledge of international data standards guides our practice.